WRESTLERS SHOW FORM FOR BOUTS

McGill Grapplers Won All
but One Bout

LAST NIGHT

Annual Assault-at-Arms at Kingston

Kingston, Ontario, February 23. (Special to McGill Daily)—At the close of tonight's competitions Toronto Varsity, McGill and Queen's had remained close together so far as points were concerned. Eliminating the fencing bouts, as points will be given for them tomorrow night, from the consideration of the summary, Torontoarsity finished with six points, McGill with five and Queens with four. The McGill men lost only one wrestling bout, that between Chesley of Queen's and Silver of McGill, and succeeded in winning only one boxing match, that between Brewer of McGill and Roberts of Queens.

Byes were drawn on the McGill team by Schleiffer in the 110-pound boxing; Reid in the 125-pound wrestling; Merritt in the 136-pound boxing; Armstrong in the 158-pound wrestling; Rumble in the heavy-weight wrestling and snow in the 125-pound boxing. These men may each be expected to give a good account of himself when they meet the winners of the bouts already fought tomorrow evening.

The bouts which were held tonight follow:

FENCING

Walton (M) beat Mabec (Q).
Crestohl (M) beat Hewitt (T).
Silverstone (M) beat Hunter (Q).

WRESTLING

THEATRE NIGHT PRICES ARE ANNOUNCED

Expected That Every Seat
Will Be Sold

ON MARCH 22nd

Sections Will Be Reserved so
Classes May Sit Together

Applications have been made for several of the boxes for the Theatre Night at the St. Denis, on March 22nd, and it is expected that the majority of the remaining ones will be applied for by graduates and the faculty, and organizations of students, even before the general seat sale is started. The meeting of the Students' Council, at which the matter was discussed, along with quite a lot of other business, showed that there was the greatest of enthusiasm being displayed by all of the undergraduates, graduates and staff about the Theatre Night, and it is doubtful if the theatre will be able to accommodate everyone wishing to attend. The members of the Council will attend in a body and will occupy one of the boxes.

The prices of the tickets for the show, which were fixed yesterday, have been made on a scale that will make the best of them available to all of the students, while the cheaper seats will be much less costly than the ordinary rate for a moving picture show. Box seats will be sold for $1.00 plus tax, while the reserved seats in the orchestra and the front balcony will sell at seventy-five cents and sixty cents, according to their location in the house. The seats at the rear of the balcony will not be reserved and will be sold at a much cheaper rate.

In accordance with the expressed desire of the majority of the undergraduates, plans have been made whereby the classes will be able to attend the production in groups and will be able to sit together. In order to make this plan feasible, tickets will be sold to the students in the classes, which may be exchanged either individually or in groups by their class officers for reserved tickets at the office of the Students' Council. The tickets will probably go on sale some time during the next week.

The matter of the campaign for student relief in Russia was also dealt with at the meeting yesterday and the following resolution concerning the campaign was passed: "That the Students' Council, realizing the need of the students in Russia, is of the opinion that undergraduates who desire to subscribe to the student relief campaign should be given an opportunity to do so."

The meeting was concluded with a large amount of routine business, which kept the gathering busy for almost two hours and it was adjourned far after the dinner hour was past.

HISTORICAL CLUB TO MEET TONIGHT

Papers on Dorchester and Simcoe to Be Read

Two interesting papers are in course of preparation to be delivered at the Historical Club on Wednesday evening next, February 28th. The speakers will be L. C. Tombs of third year Arts, and Gourlay of second year. The former has chosen for his subject the life of Lieutenant-General John Graves Simcoe, first Lieutenant-Governor of Upper Canada, who was appointed after the passage of the Constitutional Act of 1791. The name of General Simcoe is held in high regard throughout Canada today, especially in Ontario, where he laid the foundations for that province's future greatness.

Gourlay will deal with a distinguished contemporary of Simcoe, Sir Guy Carleton, Lord Dorchester. Sir Guy Carleton was a statesman of great ability, and a soldier of renown. As Governor-General of British North America shortly after the commencement of British rule in Canada he carried out his policies with remarkable tact. He was the first of a series of eminent Governors-General of Canada.

A number of extremely interesting papers have been read at the Historical Club during the session, and it is hoped that there will be a good attendance at Wednesday's meeting. It is expected that the final meeting of the club, at which officers for the ensuing year will be elected, will take place on March 28, the speaker for the occasion being Dr. W. D. Lighthall, K.C., well-known Montreal poet and lawyer. Historical students would do well to reserve this date.

INDUSTRIAL SANITATION WAS TOPIC

Dr. Whipple of Harvard
Spoke at Windsor
WORKMEN WELFARE

Employer Placed on Friendly
Footly with Employee

Following the serving of luncheon in the Rose Room of the Windsor Hotel yesterday afternoon, Dr. Whipple, Professor of Sanitary Engineering at Harvard University, addressed a large and interested audience on Industrial Sanitation. Mr. E. W. Beatty, President of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company and Chancellor of McGill University, introduced Dr. Whipple as a man who had given many years of service to the subject of sanitary engineering. Dr. Whipple also served as a Major in the American Red Cross force during the Great War.

Prefacing his address Dr. Whipple said that he had come to Montreal for two reasons; first, to address this audience and secondly to celebrate the thirtieth anniversary of his wedding.

Industrial health, continued the professor, must be looked upon as three concentric circles, one representing hygiene, the second sanitation and the third medicine. The difference between hygiene and sanitation is that hygiene starts in the individual and works its way out, whereas sanitation starts from beyond the individual and gradually finds its way to him.

It is only since a few years that any attempt has been made by those responsible for the management of factories to install some system of sanitation in them. Prior to this no care whatsoever was given to the health of a workman.

Speaking of restaurants, a word derived from the Latin res, a thing, and taurus, a bull, and which therefore may be defined as a "bully thing," Dr. Whipple cited the example of a restaurateur who was curious as to the purpose of certain laws which the government made him observe. Accordingly he hired a Sanitary Chemist, and as a result of the investigations of this chemist found that the laws were not only of benefit to those who patronized his establishment but also to himself as well.

Like all other things, this new idea of welfare of the workmen can be carried too far. An employee does not care as a rule, to see a considerable amount of money that might be otherwise expended in increasing his salary, spent on workman welfare. He prefers to look after his own welfare himself and in his own way. There is danger, too, of the government taking too great a hand in this matter. The function of a government is to prevent injury to workmen, not to give them benefits. (Continued on Page Two)

BIG EVENT OF SOCIAL YEAR IS ANNOUNCED

Alma Mater Dance Scheduled for March 16th

COMMITTEE FORMED

Seniors to Have No Preference in Ticket Allotment

The Alma Mater dance, crowning feature of the season of social activity at McGill, will take place on Friday evening, March 16th, according to an announcement made at the meeting of the Students' Council yesterday. This dance is not staged by the Union, as are the others, but it takes the form of a reception by the Students' Council and is always the most brilliant affair in the schedule of the session.

Don Foss was appointed chairman of the committee to look after the preparations for the event, and, in addition to the regular members of the committee under his charge, he will have as active assistants in getting the affair under way all of the other members of the Council. The immediate work, which is to get under way on Monday, will be that of preparing the decorations for the ballroom in the Union. It is understood that no attempt will be made to make any money from the affair, but that all of the receipts will be allotted for the purpose of adding more enjoyment to the programme.

In addition to the members of the Students' Council, all of whom will be present for the occasion, the executives of the other leading clubs in the college will attend the function. The list of patrons for the affair have not been announced as yet, but it is expected that the leading members of the faculty will be invited to be present, and it is a notorious fact that invitations to an Alma Mater dance are not lightly refused.

In contrast to the policy adopted for the informal dances, the occasion of the biggest and final ball of the season gives all of the undergraduates a chance to display themselves in their best attire. The strictly formal dress suit is not imperative, although it will no doubt be quite prevalent, but the more popular tuxedo suit is expected to be the choice for the majority of the males on this occasion. It is unnecessary to dwell upon the dance as far as the ladies are concerned, but it suffices to say that it is considered as one of the big society events of the year.

There was some suggestion that the senior classes should be given the preference in securing the tickets, but this has apparently been negated by the Council and the first men to apply for the pasteboards will be the fortunate ones to attend the function. The date on which the sale of the tickets will begin has not been announced, but it is definitely stated that no reservations will be made ahead of time and that students wishing to secure tickets for the occasion will have to arrive early on the appointed day to get them. Notwithstanding the expense involved in running the dance, the price of the tickets will not be increased and they will go on sale at five dollars per couple.

VERY REV. ALBERT BAILLIE TO SPEAK

King's Chaplain to Address
Students Tuesday

The McGill Canadian Club will present at its eighth meeting the Very Reverend Albert Victor Baillie, C.V.O., M.A., Dean of Windsor and Chaplain to the King. Born in 1864 and educated at Marlborough and Trinity College for the clergy, he rose rapidly through various posts in the Anglican Church and from 1898 to 1917 was Rural Dean and Rector of Rugby as well as being Hon. Canon of Worcester from 1906 to 1917. In the latter year he became Dean of Windsor and Chaplain to the King.

At the present time the Dean is touring the United States and Canada and recently addressed the Canadian Club of New York, where he was heartily received. His intimacy with the British throne and British politics furnish him with much interesting material on which he speak next Tuesday, when he will address McGill students under the auspices of the Canadian Club. It is anticipated that there will be a large number present in the convocation hall of the Royal Victoria College.

Minister—My boy, do you ever attend a place of worship?
George—Yes, sir; I'm on my way to see her now.

A New Style Cigarette Case

THIS cigarette case is a wholly new and unusual design of our own. It takes the package of cigarettes entire, including tin-foil and the cardboard outer covering. This feature retains the cigarettes in first-rate condition, just as they left the manufacturers' hands.

A convenient cut-out at the side of the case permits of sliding the package out quickly and a touch restores it to position.

The most practical and convenient cigarette case made. Ask to see it in sterling silver or in silver plate.

RELIEF CAMPAIGN STARTS ON MONDAY

To Raise Funds for Impoverished Europeans

On Monday, the 26th inst., a campaign will be started for the relief of students in Russia. To many, such a campaign seems unnecessary, especially at this time of the year, but those who are acquainted with conditions in Russia and Central Europe feel that something should be done at McGill.

Owing to the present rate of exchange a student can be supported for a month on $1.50, or $15 for the college year. Over 20,000 Russian students were supported last year by Canadian and American students, and conditions in that country at the present time warrant of further support. Last year a very successful campaign was carried out at the University. Many students were actually kept from starvation by the generous response of those who willingly gave. Every student will be given an opportunity to contribute next week and the committee is anxious that the students will think carefully and respond as freely as possible to this important cause.

The following committee is organizing the Student Relief Campaign:
H. Wells, chairman.
Arts—H. N. Bronson, C. H. Fraser.
Commerce—J. H. Goldsmith.
Science—F. S. Howes, E. G. Maxwell.

Law—H. Batshaw, J. H. G. Way.
Medicine—A. Klineberg, C. Graham.
Dentistry—J. E. Kirk, H. Baxter.
Theology—J. W. Clarke.

A partial list of the collectors is as follows:

Arts—W. F. Shepherd, '25; H. McPhail, '25; C. T. Teakle, '24; C. H. Fraser, '23.

Science—I. F. E. Winter, Neroutsis (A.), Noyes (B), Reid (C), King (D).

II—R. Dingman, Schlee (A and B), Stewart (C), Stevens (D).

III—A. P. Miller, Howes (Electrical), James (Civil), Miller (Mech.), Muir (Min. and Met. and Chem.).

IV—J. L. Bieler, Oliver (Electrical), Stephens (Civil), Bieler (Mech.).

LAST INFORMAL OF YEAR NEXT FBIDAY

The evening of March 2nd will witness the sixth and last of the Informal Dances which have been so popular during the year.

A last dance always hints of coming examinations with the subsequent rush for tickets by students trying to squeeze "just one more" in before the finals.

As customary, the strawboards will go on sale Monday noon, and students are advised to be on hand early so as to avoid disappointment.

"Do you like bananas?" asked the lady.
"Madam," replied the slightly deaf old gentleman, "I do not. I prefer the old-fashioned nightshirt."

THE JUNIOR TEAM

Much has been said, and doubtless much will be said in the future, with reference to the necessity of tendering support to the Team; by "the Team" meaning, of course, the senior aggregation, be it in rugby or hockey, which carries the colours of its Alma Mater upon the gridiron or ice. Nothing could be farther from our intentions than to seek to discourage attention being given, as it will always be given, to the senior teams of the college; undoubtedly one of the factors contributing largely to the honour of gaining a place upon them, is the constant manifestation of interest in them and their activities by the undergraduate body. However, we do believe, that for the benefit of these senior teams greater concern ought to be demonstrated towards the successes and defeats of the junior squads, if for no other purpose than to encourage more men to strive for a place upon these latter and to thus augment the source of supply for the recruiting of material for future first-line representations. There is without question room for criticism in the advocacy of such a policy on the grounds urged; there ought certainly to be no difficulty experienced in obtaining men to turn out for the various sports simply for the sport's sake; but it is a fact that appreciation of the recreation must first be realized before this very desirable end is achieved. It is our conviction that the benefits of a game are comprehended best by the man comparatively unfamiliar with it in the university environment, when they are emphasized by wide-spread interest which that sport creates among the undergraduates.

It is to induce prospective candidates for the junior teams, and ultimately for the senior squads, to heed the exhortations of the Coach to attend practices that we would urge a greater evidence of sympathy in the junior teams by the students. Once the candidate has been introduced to the playing of the game, we are assured that he will then "play the game for the sake." At McGill, junior competition demands stimulation; this cannot be better accomplished than by turning out and "rooting" for the juniors. It merits a trial, at any rate.

THE KEYSTONE OF SUCCESS

The most difficult task facing the student as he enters the portals of McGill is to choose a course of study leading to a particular profession, or if not a profession, a sphere of activity, offering the most interest and for which he is best adapted. The words of Charles Lamb, "The measure of choosing well is whether a man likes what he has chosen," are as true today as when written over a century ago. But to lay down any fixed rule that the student should and must stick rigidly to such and such a course would be futile. Quite a number make one, and sometimes two changes, before they reach their final choice. Nevertheless it would be highly desirable if the mind of the student was sufficiently developed so as to enable him to commence his university career with a clear vision, and a determination to see his course through to the end.

Before deciding on any definite career, the student should consider the question from all angles—give the matter deep thought, acquaint himself with the fundamentals of the profession, and, if possible, secure the viewpoints of its leaders. To carry on in a purposeless fashion is to court mediocrity, and all too often, failure as well. The world is passing through a great crisis, and the type who will better conditions is not the mediocre. Experts say that the North American continent is producing a narrow, standardised man, who is unfitted to cope with the myriads of problems ever before mankind. The student is in a position to combat this tendency.

Much of the inanity and misery of life would not be experienced if the student would at the very dawn of his college career carefully lay the foundation of a strong structure which in years to come would rear its lofty head to true success.

Movements for efficiency in factories are not always looked upon favorably by employees. They regard these movements as tools that will be used to get more work out of them.

A fact almost axiomatic in factory efficiency is that all workers must be kept well. Due to the monotony of his work, an employee's state of mind will not remain in the best of condition for long if nothing is done to stimulate his interest in his work. A suitable way of stimulating interest is to deliver to the workmen a series of illustrated lectures on the whole process of manufacture of the article involved. The man should be shown carefully that his particular part of the work is of greatest importance and that he is an integral part of the factory in which he is employed.

All factories at the present time are forced by law to take precautions against the possible poisoning of their workmen, but a better system than this is to educate the men. If they are shown enough about the nature of their work to enable them to take all necessary care, more will be accomplished than by material methods.

Every factory presents its own sanitation problem. Most of these problems can, however, be narrowed down to cases involving chemistry or engineering. The sort of man that is required to look after the sanitation of a factory is a man who has devoted his undergraduate years to the study of sanitary chemistry, which consists, besides a thorough course in chemistry, of biology and some engineering. This field is as yet undeveloped, and therefore offers a fine opportunity to many young men. The work involved in such a position is mechanical, physical, chemical and medical.

One of the great results from a commercial standpoint, of the introduction of sanitary measures, is the lessening of insurance premiums and a great increase in production. When satisfactory methods of sanitation are introduced in a factory there is much less illness among the employees. It has been estimated that at least ten per cent of a man's time may be saved by the introduction of measures that tend towards better sanitary conditions. It benefits the workman, too, for he loses much less pay.

There are several reasons why workmen leave their factories. Chief among these are dissatisfaction as regards wages, dislike for the foreman, family reasons, or more often unsatisfactory factory conditions. Improvement in factory conditions will then be of essential importance to an employer, for it will enable him to keep his good men. It costs approximately thirty-five dollars to train a new man for a position, so that a great saving would accompany improve-

There will be an important meeting in conditions.

The principle of spending money on improving factory conditions is much better than spending it on insurance. When good improvements are introduced insurance has been known to be cut in two. Loss resulting from strikes has also diminished greatly.

Dr. Whipple said that one of the greatest things about industrial sanitation was that it was a good excuse for an employer to be friendly with his employee.

A vote of thanks was tendered the speaker by the chairman, who announced that the next lecture of the series would be given on March 9. It was also announced that the first of a series of lectures on Social Science would be given in Strathcona Hall at 5.15 p.m. next Tuesday. This lecture is to be addressed by Mr. John Caldwell, who is an author-

MAGNA CHARTA DAY PROJECT PROGRESSING

English-Speaking Nations to Observe June 15

LIBERTY CHARTER

Sir Arthur Currie Committee Member for Canada

Efforts are being made in countries of Anglo-Saxon origin to celebrate June 15th as Magna Charta Day, the anniversary of the granting of the charter which, although signed in 1215, yet profoundly affects the liberties of citizens of many countries of the world. Sir Arthur Currie, who is a member of the committee for Canada, has been in touch with the executive committee and it is hoped that this year Magna Charta Day will be publicly celebrated by civic authorities in Canada as well as Magna Charta Sunday by the various religious bodies throughout the Dominion.

The objects of the Magna Charta movement are:

1.—To have the English speaking nations observe Magna Charta Day annually—the one outstanding event which they can all hold in common—as they celebrate July 4th and Empire Day, even though it may not be done on so large a scale, or with so much enthusiasm.

(a)—The press to touch upon the event on June 15th, the day the Charter was granted in 1215; and

(b)—Churches and Sunday Schools to celebrate Magna Charta Sunday, the third Sunday in June, a fixed date.

2.—To bring about a closer sense of unity of purpose on the part of these widely scattered nations, and to develop a greater feeling of responsibility for the peace of the world, which literally hangs upon the continuing of their cordial relations.

3.—By means of Magna Charta Clubs:

(a)—To encourage widespread study of the origin and development of the liberties of the English speaking peoples of the world.

(b)—To awaken a higher appreciation of the principles set forth in this great document and a better understanding of the far-reaching influence of these principles in the framing of the Constitution of the United States and of the Constitutions, written or unwritten, of the other English speaking nations.

(c)—By thus emphasizing this and other elements in the common political heritage, to promote peace, harmony and co-operation among all English-speaking nations and the speedy removal of all misunderstandings that may arise.

(d)—To act as clearing house of ideas looking to the closer union of thought and purpose of the English-speaking nations.

Broad and generous thoughts are frequently expressed in press and pulpit, assemblies and parliaments, which lacking an organization of this kind rarely get more than local notice.

These clubs finding a splendid editorial, an extract from a speech or magazine, promotive of harmony in the seven nations, would clip and reproduce them for publication in the papers of each of the seven nations, and would thwart by all means in their power the efforts of those who seek to make trouble between England and the United States by the distribution of living propaganda.

4.—To strengthen the national stability of each of the seven nations, by having the children know the many important steps in the development of the liberties the race enjoys, as one now encourages them to know by heart the patriotic songs and the leading events in national history.

This will make them better citizens, and it will be more difficult for disloyal elements to interfere with British liberties.

M.S.P.E. VS. TORONTO IN EXHIBITION GAME

In a game that was replete with thrilling moments, the issue being in doubt until two Varsity baskets in quick succession with a minute to play settled things, Varsity co-eds defeated the M.S.P.E. team by the score of 26-21. The teams were on such even terms at half time, the game standing at 8-8, but the Toronto girls took the lead early in the second period and though the Physical Eds staged several brilliant rallies, they were unable to offset completely the brilliant passing and team work of the Blue and White team. To Miss W. Snider Toronto forward, must be given the greatest credit for Varsity's victory. She displayed wonderful shooting ability and scored time and time again on long shots from the floor. Miss Duff-Stuart was the individual star for the Physical Eds, but had very hard luck with some of her shots.

The game opened with R.S.P.E. on the aggressive, Miss Duff-Stuart netting a pretty basket shortly after the beginning of play. The Physical Eds made their score four on two fine shots, before Varsity counted anything, but two baskets as the result of excellent combination brought the Varsity team on even terms again. Up to half time play was very even, both sides scoring twice again.

The second period saw Toronto pushing the play, and chiefly due to Miss Snider they brought their score to 14 before the Physical Eds scored. They were never behind after this, although Miss Duff-Stuart and Miss Gordon scored several artful baskets. The game ended with the score standing 26-21.

QUEENS' AND MCGILL PLAY BASKETBALL

Senior Championship to Be Decided

THIS AFTERNOON

Intermediate Game Scheduled Also in High School

This afternoon the basketball teams representing Queen's and McGill will, at 3.15, start that brief forty minutes of action which will decide the fate of the Intercollegiate basketball series. The Intermediate game opens the afternoon's play with a game against the Central Y. M. C. A. Intermediate team. The result of this game decides who is to hold the second place in the A section of the City League. The two teams met earlier in the season and the "Y" team were able to score a victory. Both yearling teams are all ready for a real scrap for the honors, and the game should be most interesting. This game is to start at two o'clock so that the players will be off the floor by the time the senior teams are ready to start action.

Queen's arrived in Montreal last night. The squad are all in good condition and are preparing for a hard game. They have within their reach the much desired title and with this object in view they are determined to play a hard game. This morning they will have a light practice in the high school in order to get accustomed to the gymnasium.

Coach Van Wagner's pupils have spent the past few days resting from the hard week which they went through. All the players are back in good condition. In the two practices that were held they showed more fight and spirit than has appeared in some time on the high school floor. They have every chance of a win.

The same McGill team will in all probability line up that has represented the University during the past season. Mendelsohn, Turpel or Little will play on the forward line. Captain Manson will play in the centre of the floor and Amarion and Crain will back him on the defence position. Hilton and Blumenstein will be ready to go on the floor if needed.

The Queens team will line up as in the game at Kingston. "Bud" Thomas, the big defence player, will be on the floor and as in the last contest will probably be the big stumbling block in the path of the Red and White forward line. Jones, the shooting forward of the visiting team will, it is expected, be out to pile up the points with his usual skill.

The Intermediate team will have James and Scharfe in the shooting department and Philpot may play in the centre of the floor. Godine, Snyder and Rafalovitch will divide the defence work.

All the plans for handling a capacity crowd are complete. The Intermediate B and Junior team will be on deck to do what they can to find seats for every one. As before the gallery will be reserved for ladies with or without escorts. Owing to the city ruling no admission will be charged, but an attempt to defray part of the expenses will be made by taking up a collection. No seats will be held after 2.30 and those desiring good seats should be on time.

Manley, of the M. A. A. A., who so ably handled the last game, will blow the whistle for both contests.

INTERCOLLEGIATE BOXERS FOR U.S.

Many boxing fans of the University will recall that last year a team of intercollegiate boxers made a trip down to Annapolis, Maryland, and there met a team of Navy representatives. This journey will be repeated again this year and on March 3rd the winners of the Assault-at-Arms at Kingston will visit the U.S. Naval Academy.

On February 17th this year a Navy team defeated the boxers of Penn. State University. The men on the Navy team were:

115 lbs.—Hayes; 125 lb.—Goldthwaite; 135 lb.—Kurtz; 145 lb.—Leach; 160 lb.—O'Reagan; Heavyweight—Mathews.

This will be the probable line-up against the Canadians.

Brewer, last year, was defeated by Leach after an extra round, while Mathews won on points from McMeans. All the bouts were keenly contested. It is probable that some of last year's contestants will again face each other in the ring at Annapolis.

SKIERS RETURN FROM LAKE PLACID MEET

These McGill representatives who journeyed to Lake Placid to participate in the ski events taking place there last Wednesday and Thursday, returned to Montreal yesterday. Wade, of Medicine, who came in first in the 25-mile race, although closely pressed by Edson of Dartmouth, was looking none the worse for the rigours of his exertions. Along with him were Brown, who pulled down a third place in the seven mile cross-country run, and Gravel, Waite and Knowlton, all of whom took part in the ski jumps, which, however, were won by Anderson of Berlin, N.H., who broke the record for the jump while he made a distance of one hundred and twenty-four feet.

MCGILL MEETS TORONTO IN WATER POLO

Teams Play for Championship at Central "Y"

GOOD OFFICIALS

Toronto Sending Same Team as Last Year

One of the few remaining intercollegiate championships will be decided tonight when the McGill senior water polo team lines up against the representatives from Toronto. The game will take place in the Central Y. M. C. A. tank and is called for 8.30 sharp. An attempt is being made to get Messrs. George Moore and Albert Farmer to handle the encounter; the former as referee, the latter as judge of play. Both these men are well known in aquatic circles and can be relied on to give the utmost satisfaction. It is certain that they will not band together on one side of the tank after the manner of some officials, but, each knowing the game as he does, will render his decisions independent of the other. As mentioned in a previous report, the same team that played at Toronto will take the water down here. Since there is but one home game in this series, all students are advised to seize this opportunity of witnessing such an exhibition. The game is far more strenuous and thrilling than the average person imagines, the participants requiring speed in swimming, skill in handling the ball and endurance to give and receive the tackles exchanged during the game. McGill holds the championship from last year, but as a result of the game away from home last week, have a slight lead to overcome in order to retain it. With this in view, a full gallery should be on hand to cheer the team to victory.

Toronto is sending down identically the same team as they did last year, and of their playing ability little need be said, for, working together so long, they have developed into a smooth-running team. The McGill regulars are all men of at least two years' experience, either as seniors or intermediates, and although not as heavy as their opponents, will be certain to put up a desperate fight, since the championship hinges on the outcome of the game.

The two teams will line up as follows:

Varsity.	Goal.	McGill.
Bell	Goal.	Graham-Browne
Waldron	Defence.	Anson
Conklin	Forwards.	Laidley
Reiley		Ross
Wells		Woods
Hartson		Vickerson
Fitzgerald		Bethel

ROOTERS' SUPPORT FOR BASKETBALL

Thundering Thousand to Encourage Players Today

"Nutts" Nutting, leader of the "thundering thousand," and his gang of rooters are expected out at the basketball game this afternoon. The Red and White team is out to make the fight of their lives against the big squad from Ontario and it is expected that a huge crowd will be present to support the players. In order that every one may secure seats in a group it is hoped that the rooters will be on deck slightly prior to the start of the first game. The Intermediates are due to meet the "Y" team in the fixture.

"Jeff" Harding will be at the polo game tonight to lead the rooters who turn out for this big fixture. The polo team has a three goal lead to overcome and it is expected that the usual gang of noisy rooters will be out to back the poloists to the last stroke.

With these two games to attend the members of the Rooters' Club should have a busy day of it. Both matches determine where a championship will rest and it is expected that the crowd will support the Red and White teams.

HOCKEY TEAM FINAL GAME TONIGHT

Seniors Will Play Picked City League Team

DINEEN BACK

"Flin" Flanagan and "Boo" Anderson in Opposition

The prospects promise to be exceedingly bright for the McGill hockey team when they hook up with the City League All-Stars in the Arena this evening at 8.15.

Although the city six will present practically the same line-up as defeated the Granites, their squad is greatly improved in combination and team play as a result of having played together, but even against this formidable aggregation the McGill team is looked upon by many as favorites. The red and white aggregation will be materially strengthened by the addition of the veteran Matty Dineen, captain of the 1921 team, who will double up with Dempsey to form an air-tight blockade, and by moving McGerrigle, the speedy defence player, up to the forward line, a well rounded squad will result. Dineen will be out with senior company for the first time this year. The old-timer was out with the Intermediates last week and his checking and rushing proved to be a feature of the game and showed that so far Matty has rather gained than lost any of his noted ability.

The forward line, Flanagan, McGerrigle and Morrison should prove a fast trio to stop. Flanagan will wear the red, and white for the last time. "Flin," the all-round athlete, who has made a lasting name for himself in intercollegiate sport, is expected to bring his meteoric career at McGill to a fitting climax by treating his team and fans to many flashes of his spectacular stick-handling and brilliant shooting. His partner, Morrison, and McGerrigle, are tried men. Morrison is a deadly shot and McGerrigle is perhaps the fastest man of the sextette.

"Shim" Morris will once more occupy the position in front of the twine and he is always perfectly at home when the rubber is flying towards his net.

The college subs will include Bell, McNaughton and Munroe. They will very likely be seen in action as the coach believes in injecting fresh players throughout a contest.

The city six are a team of individual stars. "Boo" Anderson with his poke check, Gervais the cucumber goaler, Mantha and Mallison, two reliable Victoria defence men, and Slater and L. Valois, both of them sensational forwards, will all be seen in action against Coach Shaughnessy's proteges. The subs for the All-Stars are Savard, Gravel and Pelletier, all of them National players of note. Dr. V. P. Heney will handle the game.

The tickets for this spectacular contest are on sale at the Mount Royal Arena at the following prices:

Rush seats, 30c.
Reserved Seats, 60c.
Promenade and boxes, $1.00.

WAVE OF SENTIMENT

A number of separate, spontaneous incidents indicate that a wave of sentiment and action for law enforcement is sweeping American colleges. At Yale, at a student meeting, two undergraduate committees were chosen to promote respect for law in the student body. At the University of South Dakota a "Bone Dry" Club has been formed to promote enforcement of the Volstead Act. Wesleyan University, Conn., ratified a plan by which the students themselves are to punish any student drinking during the academic year. And the Freshmen Class at Lafayette College, Pa., passed a resolution disapproving the use of alcoholic liquors on the campus.

SPRING FOOTBALL PRACTICE

Iowa State College held their first spring football practice recently. Seventy-seven men turned out, the largest number that has ever turned out for such an early call.

HUNGRY HEARTS TO FIND REPOSE

The following recently appeared in the Iowa State Student:

"Heart" is the keynote for the weekend: church parties. Social directors believe with Dr. Frank Crane, who thinks that everything and every place is made for lovers, if the week's socials are any indications.

"Hearts are Trumps" says the West Gate church placards.

MCGILL GIRLS TOO GOOD FOR QUEEN'S TEAM

R.V.C. Win Basketball Game by 25—16

M.S.P.E. LOSE

Toronto Beats Physical Eds by 26—21

The second of the women's Intercollegiate basketball fixtures took place in the R.V.C. Convocation Hall last night when Queens lost to the McGill players by 25 to 16.

Previous to the league game the M.S.P.E. met the Toronto team in an exhibition match in which the Physical Eds were beaten by 20 to 21.

The hall was well filled with enthusiastic supporters of all four teams. The ribbioned bear mascot of the Queen's players again accompanied his owners, while the Toronto representatives wheeled one of the "Teddy" variety across the floor. R.V.C., not to be outdone in the way of animal mascots, last night produced a real live black cocker spaniel—one James McGill—who behaved admirably for his first official appearance. M.S.P.E. being minus a mascot with which to impress the public eye, attempted to catch the public ear with a new yell, this being the first occasion the school has made the air resound with their own particular war-cry.

After the exhibition game Queen's and R.V.C. took the floor and the real contest of the evening started. R.V.C. began with a rush, scoring one point from a penalty and four more within the first thirty seconds. A considerable number of fouls marked the play of the first period, and on this account the game was constantly interrupted. Neither team seemed to get thoroughly under way, although the home players had the edge on their opponents from the start. Frequently the McGill girls showed brilliant flashes of combination resulting in substantial additions to their score. Miss Leggett and Miss Spier took care of the shooting with ease and skill throughout the game. Miss Russell's height and speed was a great asset in the jumping position at centre, while Miss R. Dunton ably assisted at the side.

Better basketball was displayed in the second period, R.V.C. played a steady game with Queen's working hard to score. Fouling was still frequent, however, and Miss Spier's one-handed free throw added considerably to the Red and White score. Miss Vince took charge of the Queen's free shots and netted the leather in most of her attempts. The Kingston guards were the most effective workers for their team, Miss Pritchard being most noticeable in this respect.

Towards the end of the period Queen's added materially to their score, but their opponents' continued steady work on the forward line—combination and good shooting prevailed. The victory went to the R.V.C. with the final score at 25-16.

WRITES WITH HER TOES

Off come her shoes and on a special desk in front, she writes her notes with her toes.

An Oakland student at the University of California has this unusual accomplishment because she is armlless. She carries her equipment in a bag fastened to her dress. Out of this she can take anything she wants from a book to an eraser. She can hold a book close enough to do her reading and turn the pages at ease. All her actions are graceful.

She is said to be an attractive young woman; she has a pleasant smile and is industrious in spite of her handicap. She usually wears a long cape about the campus.

TORONTO TO PLAY R.V.C. FOR TITLE

Both Teams Have Already Shown Their Mettle

GAME TONIGHT

Final Match in Women's Intercollegiate Basketball

Convocation Hall will be the scene of a game which promises to be one of the most exciting ones of the year, in that it will decide who will hold the Women's Intercollegiate Basketball championship for the coming year. Thursday night the Varsity sextette defeated Queen's, while last night McGill succeeded in overcoming Queen's, and the game tonight is anticipated with great interest. Both teams feel confident that victory will be on their side, but to the spectator who has followed up the games, the teams are very evenly matched, and the battle will be a keenly contested one.

The Varsity team plays a splendid game. Miss Snyder seldom fails to make good, while Miss Taylor as jumping centre is quite an asset to her team and with Miss Oaks as wing centre they put up strong resistance. Miss Sher and Miss Wallace are excellent in their post as defence, while the accurate passing of the whole team is very pretty to see.

The R.V.C. team is in the pink of condition and has maintained a splendid record in the games played this year. Miss D. Russel, captain of the team, plays a spectacular game in her position of jumping centre; Miss R. Dunton is ever ready as wing centre, while Miss Leggett and Miss Spier play an exceptional game as forwards. Miss E. Dunton does well as guard and Miss Shlakman is doing her utmost to fill Miss Slack's position as guard. The combination and passing are two marked features of the team.

With the new mascot which the R.V.C. have obtained, the team should do wonders, for a curly little black spaniel proudly wearing the colours of McGill appeared for the first time last night.

As this will be the final game the committee has arranged to let all give vent to their enthusiasm by tripping the light fantastic after the game.

She—It's nice to be a man—one dress suit lasts for years and years and years—whereas a woman must have a new dress for every paraty.

He—Yeh—that's why one dress suit lasts for years and years and years.

M.S.P.E. TIES R.V.C. IN THE CITY LEAGUE

Two McGill Teams Head
Ladies' Hockey

SCORELESS TIE

Championship Will Be Decided in Play-Off Soon

A keenly contested hockey game was played at the Mount Royal Arena yesterday morning between the R.V.C. and M.S.P.E., which resulted in a scoreless tie. As this was the final game of the Montreal Ladies' Amateur Hockey League a hard fight was put up by both teams.

Miss Kerr and Miss Stocking started for R.V.C., and Miss Powell and Miss Roberts for M.S.P.E.

FIRST PERIOD

The game opened with a rush by Miss Stocking, but she failed to score. The puck was then quickly taken up the ice by the M.S.P.E. forward line, which showed excellent combination throughout the whole game. They made several attempts to score, but Miss Kerr's quick stops prevented the Physical Eds from scoring.

SECOND PERIOD

For awhile during the second period neither side seemed to get away with the puck, but soon by superior combination the M.S.P.E. forward line proved the better and were only stopped by the R.V.C. defense. Toward the end of the period Miss Stocking and Miss Marshall made several attempts to score but Miss Coll and Miss Flanagan did some excellent checking.

THIRD PERIOD

The last period opened with good combination playing by Miss Roy and Miss Stocking, both of whom tried hard to score a goal. Then the play centred around the R.V.C. goal, but the M.S.P.E. were unable to score, owing to the good work of the R.V.C. defense line and the goal-keeper. In the last five minutes the game was very closely contested, both sides trying hard to score, but when the whistle sounded neither team had succeeded in gaining a point.

After some discussion it was decided to play off at a later date. The line-up of the teams follows:

R.V.C.	Goal	M.S.P.E.
L. Kerr	Goal	E. Lawford
L. Bingham	Defense	E. Snyder
M. Fry	Right Wing	C. Coll
H. Marshall	Left Wing	F. Flanagan
R. Grant	Centre	H. Roberts
F. Stocking	Subs	P. Powell
A. Roy		B. Dennis
E. D. Campbell		R. Stone

I saw some green shoots peeping
Under my sill today—
I saw a red-breast robin
Spring is on the way!

Winter winds are bitter
But they do not stay.
When you see a robin
Spring is on the way!

It is surely coming
Though there be delay—
When the red-breast robin comes
Spring is on the way!

NU SIGMA NU AND ALPHA DELTS TIE

Fast Hockey Resulted in a Scoreless Game

Last evening at 7.30 on the campus ring Nu Sigma Nu played their final game of hockey against Alpha Delta Phi in the inter-fraternity league. The score was a tie, 0-0. It was hard to judge which team played the best. The play was exceptionally fast, especially in the second half, when Adams of Nu Sigma Nus sent a shot from the side, but Alpha Delts' goaler quashed it with an effort. Adams was the outstanding player for Nu Sigma, while Lyman and Carle Hall both starred for Alpha Delts. The three men mentioned are fast skaters and very good stickhandlers. The game was exciting throughout and spares were often made use of. There was a small attendance, but what they lacked in numbers they made up in noise.

The line-up was as follows:

Nu Sigma Nu	Alpha Delta Phi
Goal.	Goal.
Brown	MacDonald
McLaughlin	Defence.
Trites	N. Hall
Caldwell	Seton
Wing.	Centre.
Adams	Lyman
Matthews	Chisholm
Chalmers	Hampson

RENAUD WINS PRIZE FOR FRENCH THESIS

"Personality in Law, History, and Philosophy"

Paul Emile Renaud, who took his LL.M. degree at McGill last year, has been awarded the prize offered by the Association de la Jeunesse Catholique Canadienne Française for the best French work in law and philosophy written this year in the Province of Quebec. The prize was $100.

The thesis was entitled "Personality in Law, History and Philosophy," and was the one he used to obtain his LL.M. degree at McGill. Among the examiners were Judges E. Lafontaine, P. Deniers, L. L. Loranget, the Rev. J. R. Dupuis and the Rev. R. P. A. Lamarche. Renaud, who is at the present time taking Economics leading to the degree of M.A. at McGill, is to be congratulated on his signal success.

A terrible tragedy is reported from Suburbia. It appears that a lady recently wrote to an evening paper to say that she, at least, had found the perfect husband. Unfortunately, her letter was never published, as the gentleman in question forgot to post it.—London Humorist.

Small boy to his rabbit: "What does 2 and 2 make?"
Silence on part of rabbit.
"What does 4 and 4 make?"
Continued silence, while the small boy shakes rabbit angrily.
Enter stern father: "Johnny, what are you doing?"
Small boy: "Well, you told me rabbits multiply rapidly, and this one can't even add."—Varsity.

magazine," with the purpose of keeping the readers informed by short, concise articles which will express definite opinions on public, literary, artistic and educational subjects of the day, is the important undertaking in the field of journalism launched recently by a group of Yale graduates. The editors, Briton Hadden and Henry R. Luce, Chairman and Managing Editor, respectively, of the 1920 News board, will be assisted by a large staff of college graduates who will contribute articles for the sixteen general departments. Time will make its initial appearance on February 24.

Hadden and Luce conceived the idea of founding in New York a new national weekly, and were able to talk about it so convincingly that soon they found among their backers a large number of influential men, including university presidents, journalists, literary men, men in public life, clergymen, etc.

Professor William Lyon Phelps, writing in the Alumni Weekly, tells of the aims, policy and important features of Time:

"The number of recent Yale graduates who have published full length novels and volumes of poems increases so fast that it is difficult to appraise their work; now comes a venture that belongs not to literature, but to journalism. This is in many ways the most important undertaking by our young alumni that I know anything about, and if it succeeds, as I have every reason for believing it will, its founders will have the satisfaction of having really 'started something,' the far-reaching results of which it is now impossible to predict.

WHAT "TIME" WILL BE.

"Time is weekly news-magazine, with the aim of keeping men and women well-informed about what is going on in the world; its uniqueness consists in its plan: it is created on a new principle of 'Complete Organization.' In their own words, the editors believe that the reason why so many people are uninformed is 'because no publication has adapted itself to the time which busy men are able to spend on simply keeping informed.' Therefore the chief aim of Time is not to see how much it can print, but how high a percentage of its reading matter it can place in the minds of its readers.

"Time collects its materials from every newspaper and periodical of standing in the world, and gives the gist in about one hundred short articles none of which is longer than seven inches of type. Every article will be found in its logical place, according to a definite scheme of arrangement. This scheme comprises sixteen general departments, as follows: National Affairs, Foreign Affairs, Books, Theatres, Motion Pictures, Art, Music, Education, Religion, Law, Medicine, Science, Business, the Press, Sport, Crime.

THE STAFF.

"Although the plan had its origin in Yale minds, the staff is not exclusively from Yale. Here it is: Editors: Briton Hadden, 1920, and Henry R. Luce, 1920, National Affairs; E. E. Paramore, 1917; S. Alan Rinehart, Harvard 1921. He is a son of the famous novelist and was for two years on the Washington News.

Foreign Affairs: E. L. Martyn, Cambridge and the Sorbonne. Books: John Farrar, 1918, Editor of The Bookman. Theatres: John A. Thomas, 1922. Motion Pictures: Stephen Vincent Benet, 1910. Music: Prosper Buraneli of the New York World. Art: Pearson Underwood, 1918. Education: Archibald MacLeish, 1915. Religion: Theodore Safford, 1920. Law: Edward N. Bourne, 1910. Medicine: Louis Henry Levy, 1904. Science: Manfred Gottfried, 1922. Business: "Willard T. Ingalls," 1922. Sport: Wells Root, 1922. Crime: Edward T. Thaw.

The advertising manager is Robert L. Johnson, 1918, and the circulation manager is Roy E. Larsen, Harvard 1921, who made the Advocate clear its expenses—regarded as a miracle.

HOW "TIME" DIFFERS FROM OTHERS.

"Naturally those who feel that there are already too many periodicals in circulation will wish first of all to know why there should be another one, and wherein this one differs from those already in possession of the field. That is a fair question and demands a frank answer.

Time omits most of what must necessarily appear in every daily paper; in comparison with the weeklies, Time gives the irreducible minimum of material, mental and spiritual events of general interest; it presents these things as news-facts rather than as points of departure for articles. What is particularly valuable is that its news-facts are from three to fifteen days fresher than can possibly be the case with bulkier periodicals. Time is printed every Thursday and includes everything up to Tuesday night; it is therefore really contemporary.

"The comparison that will immediately occur to every potential subscriber—to me, for example—is. How about that enormously successful journal, The Literary Digest? Is Time duplicating that or is it perhaps digesting the already digested Digest? Can our young men honestly go to subscribers to The Literary Digest and say: 'Here is not a substitute but an additional thing of value? I think they can.

"The Literary Digest selects, usually with great skill, certain subjects of universal interest, and gives much information and comment. Time gives all the news with extreme brevity and complete organization. There is no reason why a man should not take both periodicals. The Digest holds the scales equally balanced; Time gives both sides, but shows clearly its preference. Time makes no editorial excerpts; it is not a journal of selected opinions, but merely of facts—it might take Guy de Maupassant's motto—'Thumble verite.

"Time will have no editorial page. But the young editors give the following catalogue of their prejudices:

1. A belief that the world is round, and an admiration of the statesman's "view of all the world."
2. A general distrust of the present tendency towards increasing interference by Government.
3. A prejudice against the rising cost of government.
4. Faith in the things which money cannot buy.
5. A respect for the old, particularly in manners.
6. An interest in the new, particularly in ideas.

"Time is neither radical nor conservative; it is simply determined to keep its readers informed. . .

"The material appearance and form Time will please the eye and the hand. Its size, and paper-quality accurately produce Life. It has twenty-four pages of reading-matter, three columns of portraits; the sample copy I have seen most attractive.
"Personally I heartily endorse Time for I believe in its purpose, in its success and in its staff; but as many readers' endorsements are justly or unjustly suspicious of ulterior motives, let me say that I have no financial interest of a kind in this undertaking. My interest is two-fold: I am interested in every attempt at good journalism from whatever source, and I am interested in everything done by men of Yale."—Yale News.
